any particular section of the nation. The 11 states in his column were scattered widely from Maine to Colorado. They were Colorado, Iowa, his native state of Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota, South Dakota and Vermont.

It was noted that not one of these, with the possible exception of Michigan, was a state where John L. Lewis' Congress of Industrial Organizations would have a predominant voice.

Consequently Mr. Lewis was considered to have failed in his effort to lead the C.I.O. unions away from the president, and his resignation from the leadership of the union group, promised in an election speech in which he supported Mr. Wilkie, was expected soon.

The president went into the lead immediately vote-counting began last night and fought steadily ahead. Hour after hour he strengthened his position and won the major industrial states such as New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Illinois, and won decisively to him the issue was no longer in doubt.

If Wilkie was to have won he would have taken the issue to the people by his campaigning to them. In most of them he met warm reception, but he could not overcome the president's popularity.

REVERSES TREND

The trend in the president's favor continued in the congressional elections of 1938, when the presidency was not at stake, and in which Wilkie, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and other states elected Republican senators and governors.

This time the president's margin as a vote-caster extended its spell over the island and carried along on the current with him a number of Democratic governors and senators.

The solid south showed no sign of a reversal in its traditional allegiance to the Democratic party. In every election since 1928, these 28,000,000 voters have supported the Democrats.

Michigan Swings Into Democratic Column

DETROIT, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Michigan swung into the Democratic column today as industrial Wayne county voters rejected the Republican ticket of Wendell Wilkie.

The vote was a reversal of the 1936 election when Wilkie carried Wayne county by a margin of 10,000 votes.

At the same time Republican Governor Louis F. Dickinson was defeated by the Democratic ticket of Murphy E. Vance and William W. C. Sullivan.

The totals were Roosevelt 1,587,726; Wilkie 1,231,466. Votes of 90 per cent or more have been seen in the world a few times in late years, usually running like this:

CANADIANS TO HAVE PROVOST CORPS ABROAD

Directed By Former R.C.M.P. Officers—First Of Its Kind

By ROSS MUNRO
WHERE IN ENGLAND, Nov. 6.—(CP)—The first provost corps in the history of the Canadian army has been formed here to handle traffic, police and similar problems in the composite Canadian-British corps in the camps where Canadian soldiers are being trained.

Under direction of several former Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers in the Canadian Army Force, this newest development of army organization was considered necessary to keep pace with the large number of Canadian troops in England, and to contribute to the efficiency of the camp.

PROBLEM WIDENS

When the first division came to England nearly a year ago it had its own provost company, made up of men recruited from the R.C.M.P. As more troops arrived the provost problem broadened, other companies were formed and finally the provost corps was organized.

Five companies, mounted on motor cycles, will handle the provost duties in the new setup. The corps will be administered by Lt.-Col. R. H. H. Vickers, deputy provost-marshal at Canadian military headquarters. The provost corps will be in charge of the camp area in which Major W. R. Day of Ottawa, assistant provost-marshal of the corps who came to England as an officer commanding the 1st Provost Company.

LOGICAL STEP

The 1st Provost company is still the representative of the R.C.M.P. with the Canadian forces. The other companies have been recruited from among men who have never before the service of the army. This Provost Corps just had to be," said Maj. Day. "It is a logical step in a Canadian military point of view."

The Provost Corps will enforce discipline and handle police matters. Of paramount importance is the question of handling traffic and directing truck convoys along the narrow winding roads of the British defence area.

"Traffic problems are particularly important now in light of the high mechanization of the forces," said Maj. Day. "About 80 per cent of the work will be concerned with traffic duties and special training is given officers and men in this regard."

The new corps unit will also look after prisoners of war.

UNION LEADER STATES STAND ON EDUCATION

Adheres To Old Tradition In Quebec—Critical Of Premier

By WILLIAM STEWART
ST. THERESE, Que., Nov. 6.—(CP)—Maurice Dupuis, Union Nationale leader, charged Tuesday night that Premier Godbout had "wrecked" Quebec province by "claiming it is backward."

The opposition party chief said the province had spoken "injurious words" concerning Quebec's education system and had "defiled the reputation of the province."

Mr. Dupuis addressed a by-election rally in this Terrebonne county town. Leonard Gauthier, Union Nationale candidate in the contest Nov. 19, is opposing Godbout. He said the government's policy was to "wreck the province."

The Terrebonne seat in the Quebec legislature was left open by the appointment of Hon. Alphonse Deville to the Canadian Senate.

Why Not French? "Those who criticize the education system of the province," he said, "are worth those they injure," said the opposition leader.

Mr. Dupuis said he must learn English when he discusses our education system. "To be able to discuss those who injure," he said, "one must learn English."

But why doesn't Mr. Godbout ask the English to learn French? Mr. Dupuis asked.

Why does Mr. Godbout say Quebec is backward? I say our Quebec of education produced Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Brien who spoke English admirably.

Mr. Dupuis said he has not the right to criticize the education system. "We are in favor of the education system," he said. "We are in favor of the education system."

The troops are starting to dig out winter clothes again . . . they say plenty of woolen apparel keeps out this clammy English cold.

WEATHER OVER BERLIN FACTOR IN BOMB RAIDS

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(CP)—Weather plays a big part in a bombing expedition to Berlin, according to a Royal Air Force bomber pilot whose account of a recent expedition was quoted Tuesday night by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

On my last trip to Berlin the snow was so powdery that it got into the aircraft and covered me and my instrument board," the pilot said. "It covered my windscreen and so I had to rely on the navigator could see anything."

"Then I felt my controls beginning to freeze up and I could hardly move them. The danger was that they might stop working completely and then we'd all have had to bail out into Germany."

The pilot then told of putting the plane into a stall "to give it more warmth." At 1,000 feet the temperature was still two degrees below zero and it was 35 minutes before the danger from ice on the controls had passed.

"The noise of our engine must have sent a good many Berliners into air raid shelters," the pilot laughed, "because by that time we were right over the city."

BELLEVUE MAN SAVES FRIENDS FROM DROWNING

BLADEMORE, Alta., Nov. 6.—(CP)—Rescuing at his home in Bellevue recovering from bruises, cuts and shock, Austin Fisher, 38, today was reluctant to discuss the part he played in rescuing two friends trapped in a chert car from the icy waters of Crow's Nest Lake Monday night.

Fisher and his two pals, Bill Malson and Duncan Hutton, Bellevue, were returning from Crow's Nest when at a point one mile east of the west side of the Canadian Pacific Railway crossing, the car, driven by Fisher, skidded on a curve and landed on its top in the lake.

Fisher turned the window down and rolled out. He went to the door and got a rock, placed back into the water and crashed a side window of the car. He rolled out one by one and landed himself safely on shore. He rescued the other but could not remember how he had done it.

The trio swam on the back for 20 minutes before help came. A car from Fernie took them back to Crow's Nest. All three are suffering from cold, shock, bruises and minor cuts.

Looking them Over

Football All Done

UNLESS some unforeseen development comes along, Edmonton has seen its last football of the 1940 season.

The uncertain interprovincial playoff between the Edmonton Maple Leafs and Regina Blues finally blew up last night following several days of efforts to arrange such a series to open here this Saturday.

Varsity expects to play Saskatoon this weekend, but winter weather may freeze that game out too. That would leave the Golden Bears looking for a possible trip to Vancouver to play the U.B.C. Thunderbirds.

While the Maple Leafs are actually only the champions of northern Alberta, Calgary Stampede's sporting undertook to step aside if the Stampede could arrange an interprovincial junior playoff with Regina.

The Ducks wanted $700 to make the trip here. The Western Conference was prepared to grant $200 toward covering any deficit that might arise in such a playoff. Last night the executive of Edmonton Junior Football League got together, did some frank figuring on what they could expect to take from a game here Saturday and then wisely decided the proposition was too big a risk—especially in view of the snow that was swirling around the street corners at the time the meeting was being held.

Another stickler in the proposal was that the conference insisted that the admission price be set at one dollar if the $700 guarantee was to hold. Edmonton officials doubted if they could sell enough tickets at this price to come anywhere near breaking even.

No one is certain just what will happen if the Golden Bears don't make the trip to Saskatoon to complete their two-game series with the Saskatchewan Huskies. There is a possibility though that Dr. Hardy of the University of Saskatchewan, donor of the trophy emblematic of western intercollegiate football supremacy may decide that Alberta's 25-0 victory over the Huskies entitles them to the trophy in view of the mixed up situation in college sport this fall. There is also a possibility that Dr. Hardy may decide that the Bears should play the Thunderbirds before he makes the tie award.

Fans will not kick if there is no more football here this fall. The weather has made the last two or three games painful to watch and hockey is here anyhow.

Paper Backs Blue Grass Horses

LIKE the Evening Independent, which gives away its entire edition any day the sun fails to show on the green benches and shufflers of the fair at Ft. McMurray, the Blue Grass Horses don't win a race on a major track in the United States.

Those with a knowledge of runners may at first suspect The Herald isn't taking too much of a risk—a naïveté in the breeding industry in Kentucky, but during the winter season there are times when only one track is operating—in California, where two events frequently are open only to horses bred in the Golden State.

And The Herald is opening a few entries, Kentucky trotters against the nation.

A majority of the 1700 American breeders have establishments—many of which are elaborate show places—in the rolling and fertile folds surrounding Lexington, the heart of the $10,000,000 thoroughbred breeding industry. The cost of upkeep of breeding farms in the United States is $4,500,000 a year.

Fifty per cent of the race horse breeding stock stand in the Bluegrass. By far the largest percentage of the 5,000 foals produced annually in the U.S. bear the Bluegrass brand. They bring something like $6,000,000 at sales, and with racing more widespread than ever, the demand for stock steadily increases.

Second only to the thoroughbred is the part central Kentucky plays in the production of the show and saddle horse.

It didn't take the Virginians and Carolinians who settled in central Kentucky during the last quarter of the 18th century long to realize they had found the place to raise horses.

They knew what they were doing when they imported the finest stallions and mares.

The Herald offers a tribute to them and to the pastures underlaid with bone-building limestone, the water and climate of the Bluegrass, which made and kept it one of the greatest blood-horse producing centres in the world.

KABAT NAMED MOST VALUABLE IN CONFERENCE

CALGARY, Nov. 6.—(CP)—Greg "Hootie" Kabat, quarterback of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has been awarded the McKinney Trophy as the most valuable player to his team in the Western Football Conference this season.

Announcement of the award was made Tuesday night by Johnny Thompson, president of the league, following completion of votes cast by sports writers, players and coaches of the three conference cities—Calgary, Winnipeg and Regina.

Altogether 12 votes were allowed in selection of the "most valuable" player. Six were cast by sports writers, one each by the coaches of the three teams and one vote from each club representing the choice of the players of that particular team.

Running second in the poll were Bob Carnegie, Calgary centre, and Art Stevenson, triple-threat backfield star of the league champion Winnipeg club.

Four other players figured in the poll were Jimmy Gibbs and Joe Turner, Calgary backfielders, were named with Gordie Gellish, Calgary giant lineman, and Tom Springfield, mucky line player who handles kicking assignments for the Regina Roughriders.

Playing coaches were barred from consideration in the vote, resulting Larry Harney of Calgary, and Dave Griffing of Regina, being ineligible although it is certain both have been given nomination if their names had been permitted to go before the voters.

Fast Third Period Sniping Decides Game

SASKATOON, Nov. 6.—(CP)—Two quick goals in the third period, one of them a penalty shot taken by Mel Nielsen, gave Saskatoon Quakers a 6-4 victory over the Calgary Stampede, 1940 western Canada champions, in a senior exhibition hockey game here Tuesday night.

Ross Kraling bagged the other third period goal for the winners.

Calgary, with two, Dan Sprunt and Jack Quigley accounted for the Calgary goals. The visitors out-got the Quakers and Nielsen and Kraling, with two each, Syd Fenn and Al Webb.

Calgary opened the game with two goals in less than two minutes in the first period and the score at 2-0 before the period ended. In the middle session, the Quakers gained a two-goal lead but lost it before the period ended as the Stampede scored twice.

Dave Durshak was the leading playmaker for the Albertans figuring in three of the club's goals. The teams play here again Thursday night.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—

LEWIS—Chairman John L.

Levin of the Congress of In-

Tradition Of Third

Term Swept Aside In Roosevelt Win

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—

The third term tradition—part and parcel of United States political history for a century and a half—was swept aside yesterday in the Roosevelt triumph.

It was the first clearest test of the tradition in the present itself directly on the subject. And the verdict rendered by millions of voters gave Franklin

Roosevelt strong life to the function of being the first man ever elected to a presidential third term. He was the 11th president in U.S. history to confront the third term problem.

The President, however, has given the nation his assurance that he will leave when he is elected the "great abiding" in the
